

St. Mary's Catholic Church

Fifth Sunday of Lent

March 13, 2016

Dear parishioners,

Do you believe this?

That's a very good question for each one of us! It's at the heart of how we live our lives. If we believe in Jesus—not just as the source of eternal life, but also as the sources of all good and all hope, it will direct our lives. We will not be taken in by the current culture. We will live by the commandments, by Jesus' teachings and Jesus' example. Even more we will commit ourselves to the growth of his Church by being true to it.

Our lives are far more driven by culture and media than we'd like to own up to. Following Jesus and being true to his Church is not meant to give us every delight and pleasure that the culture offers. Jesus calls us to fullness of life, a life beyond what easily means the eye. Following Jesus is often difficult and requires sacrifice. What it gives us is integrity and inner strength and purpose and meaning.

As we pray one last time for Tori and ourselves in the Rite of Scrutiny, let's pray for the courage to offer to God what it takes for us to be all that God wants us to be.
